WALL STREET STOCK TRADE SLUMPS AND PRICES EASE OFF SLIGHTLY

Profit Taking and Weakness in Grain Cause Recessions Though No Heavy Selling Orders Are in Evidence.

MOST OF CHANGES ARE RECORDED EARLY

Some of Smaller Steel Shares Are Bid Up Briskly and Specialties Show Gains—Oils Firm Late in Day.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market stopped for breath today after its slow and arduous climb above the peak levels of July.

Leading stocks generally eased a point or so, while a few pools continued operations for the advance in a number of the more speculative stocks. But the market was encouraged by the fact that trading turned dull on declines. Bears were decidedly wary. Total sales were only about 1,730,000 shares or some 750,000 under yesterday.

Most of the day's price movements were recorded during the earlier hours of trading, and during the afternoon the list held virtually stationary. Profit-taking on recent advance was in evidence, in that there was nothing to substantiate fears in some quarters that a large volume of selling may be expected in the market as a result, as there was in July. The market appeared to be waiting better news from business, and the day's reports failed to cast any new light on the trade or industrial situation.

Grain Prices Weaker.

The action of the commodity markets, notably the grains, may have had a mildly depressing influence on stocks. Both wheat and corn were depressed by the Government crop estimates. The corn crop was indicated by private estimates and the market declined 1 1/4 cents a bushel lower. Wheat dropped about 2 cents a bushel, some positions making new lows for the season, as the Government estimate was a little higher than that of a month previously. It rallied, however, to show net losses at the close of only 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN BERLIN

Communists Driven From Presidential Palace.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Communist demonstrations occurred in various parts of Berlin last night and in one of them, on the historic Wilhelmstrasse, the disturbances defied the police and were dispersed with revolver fire.

The demonstrators marched up to the Presidential palace, where they were met by the armed guards and ordered to disperse. When they refused to do so, the police fired shots into the air and the Communists left. Police used their clubs freely at other points and arrested nearly 50 demonstrators.

MOSES TO DO SOME LISTENING

Talks Politics With Hoover Before Leaving for West.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Before leaving for the West to do what he described as "a lot of high-powered listening," Senator Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican Senate Campaign Committee, today called on President Hoover to discuss the political situation.

Chairman Moses said he expected to visit Illinois, Minnesota, Colorado, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming and perhaps other Western states.

13 KILLED IN RIOT IN IRAK

Kurds at Sulaiman, Angered Over Treaty with England.

By the Associated Press.

IRAQ, Sept. 11.—Thirty-three persons were killed and 55 injured in a riot today outside the Government offices at Sulaiman.

Officials said the disorder was caused by Kurds who were dissatisfied with the new Anglo-Iraqi treaty.

Industrial Alcohol, about 6 points.

SENATOR HARRIS RENOVATED IN GEORGIA PRIMARY

Defeats Stayton for Democratic Candidacy, Carrying 153 of 161 Counties —Governorship in Doubt

LONG CHARGES FRAUD IN LOUISIANA

Victor in New Hampshire Will Give Up Neither Senate Nor Gubernatorial Candidacy.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—United States Senator William J. Harris was renominated for a third term in the Democratic primary yesterday. Harris defeated former Gov. John M. Slaton, getting 394 county unit votes to 4 for Stayton in 153 of Georgia's 161 counties. The popular vote was: Harris, 34,885; Slaton, 23,880.

The fight for the gubernatorial nomination is in doubt.

Returns from 152 counties give Richard B. Russell, Jr., 126 unit votes; George Carswell, 122; E. D. Rivers, 86; John N. Holder, 64; James A. Perry, 4. The popular vote was: Russell, 31,352; Carswell, 28,808; Holder, 24,131; Rivers, 20,981; Perry, 3,632.

Under the Georgia system the counties have two unit votes for each Representative in the State Legislature. The successful candidates must have a majority of candidates. There was every indication today that a runoff primary between the two high men will be necessary.

The gubernatorial campaign centered around ways and means of meeting a deficit of $5,000,000 in the State Treasury. Carswell, present Secretary of State, advocated the temporary diversion of part of the automobile license revenue from highways.

Ex-Gov. Groesbeck of Michigan Dead.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 11.—Wilber M. Brucker, Attorney-General, won the Republican nomination for Governor of Michigan over Alex J. Groesbeck, former Governor, in today's primary given by a majority of about 5000 votes.

Senator James Couzens won the Republican renomination against Chase S. Osborn, dry, by 250,000. Couzens' wet law observance, but is not in sympathy with prohibition, but the wet-dry question was not a leading issue. The Anti-Saloon League did not give a definite statement of approval to Osborn.

A clear-cut victory was won by the wet in the defeat of Grant M. Eliot, former representative of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, Congressman from the largest district in the United States. He was beaten by State Senator Seymour H. Person, who was given the support of wet organizations. The Person plurality was 15,000.

On the basis of an official tabulation of the vote in Tuscola County in the Seventh District congressional race, Jesse P. Wolcott, a wet, appeared today to have defeated C. L. Clegg, a Louis C. Clegg, a House dry member, who was seeking renomination. On the basis of the rechecked figures, Wolcott won by 115 votes.

Gov. Long Says He Ran Against

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—Gov. H. P. Long last night delivered by radio what he described as his speech of acceptance of the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

After expressing appreciation for support rendered him, Long said that his campaign had been conducted on simple lines and accused the opposition of voting irregularities.

"I ran against a million dollars," he asserted. "Use of a sound truck, purchase of gasoline for my car and the cost of printing some circulars were my only expenditures in the Senate race."

He then charged that Randal campagners purchased votes in Vermillion Parish "$25 a head."

Nominee, $4, to Stay in Race for Two Offices.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 11.—Albert W. Noone, 84-year-old manufacturer, who furnished a problem to political experts by his nomination in the primary as the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate and the governorship, today said he would not yield either honor.

"I will stay in the field," Noone said, "because when I entered I intended to win both places. I want to go to the United States Senate because I am dropping wet."

"If I am elected Governor and United States Senator I do not intend to qualify as the latter until I have had a chance to serve as Governor and put into effect some of my economic theories in legislation. For one thing, I intended to turn back into the State Treasury my pay checks as chief executive." Fess is Keynote at Ohio Republican Convention.

LEWIS CHARGES MRS. M'CORRICK SLIGHTS DRY ISSUE

In Opening Campaign for Senate Says She Offers No Plan if Illinois Votes for Repeal.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Sept. 11.—James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for United States Senator from Illinois, opened his campaign here today, emphasizing almost equally as issues farm relief, unemployment and prohibition. He urged the return of liquor regulation to the several states, immediate Government loans to banks in needy farm communities and work to the unemployed on Government construction projects. He also advocated return of the national income tax revenues to the states from which they were collected. He spoke at the Morgan County fair.

Making only brief reference to his four opponents, the nominee praised Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill for "commendable courage and noble frankness" in her dry stand and accused Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of offering marriage as the place of national temperance laws in the event the verdict of the referendum if for repeal.

"We of the Illinois Democracy demand State control of prohibition and temperance," he said. "We demand the national prohibition acts of law or Constitution, which for 10 years have stood in obstruction of these rights of citizenship and defeat of all temperance, be modified or repealed to any extent necessary to return the privilege to the states to fulfill the spirit of the eighteenth amendment."

Good Will the Key.

Then he took up the projected federation of European states. He recalled that when he first laid the idea before the world that he had insisted his proposed federation must be within the framework of the League of Nations. He repeated today that it must rest nowhere in his keynotes and advance the progress made in London.

He expressed a hope that an agreement would be reached between France and Italy on naval limitation. "I am quite decided in my will," he said, "to await the day when there will be no more war."

Good Will the Key.

Describing national prohibition, he said: "They rush on the twins of robbery and crime on the highroads of the land." Officers of law are corrupted or intimidated to a point where organized crime in every village and city is the companion of every courthouse and church. These profit the citizenship to the profit of billions of dollars to the criminal combination, staining the state with disgrace and blackening the nation with dishonor. These are the inheritance of this investment—no law respected, no authority obeyed, no reverence to religion or respect for God."

He said he knew and realized it would be difficult always to find a union among people so different, but that real good-will would find a solution.

The conference of European nations accepted the principle three years ago," he said. "It is now before the world. A year's study by the nations of Europe has brought the nations of Europe to the same conclusion, which, if allowed to have taken its course, would have been on us for an indefinite period, but which under this leadership has already begun improvement."

HEARING ON REROUTING PAGE STREET CAR LINE

Public Service Co. Wants to Abandon Tracks on Finney Avenue.

Arguments against the proposal of the Public Service Co. to reroute the Page car line and abandon the tracks in Finney avenue, between Grand Boulevard and Taylor avenue, and in Lucas avenue between Grand and Leffingwell avenue, continued today at a public hearing at City Hall, begun yesterday before Chairman Stahl of the State Public Service Commission. About 40 persons, half of them Negroes, attended.

L. C. Datz, chief engineer of the car company, and O. B. Owen, assistant general attorney, presented the company's case. It was claimed to run the Page line over Taylor between Page boulevard and the Hodiamont line, and over Taylor and Leffingwell, using tracks installed several years ago in Leffingwell, between Franklin and Lucas avenues.

Owen said the change would reduce congestion on Grand and eliminate the danger of accidents from right and left turns of Page cars at Grand and Lucas and at Grand and Finney. The Page and Hodiamont lines originally were built and operated by competing systems, but now duplicate service. Owen said he had recommended the abandonment of the tracks in Finney, between Grand and Pendleton avenue, in connection with street improvement proposed by the city, which would cost the company $116,000, an expense it wished to avoid.

The Finney tracks were reconstructed in 1919 because the city talked of paving the street then, he said, but the city failed to do its part and ever since the paved tracks have had to carry the bulk of vehicular traffic.

Data testified the Transportation Surface Commission had recommended this change, reporting that it would affect only 8 per cent of Page car riders. He and Owen argued that users would not be inconvenienced greatly, as the distance between the Hodiamont line and Finney avenues does not exceed 800 feet.

Joseph Furling, an attorney who has resided at 2427 W. Finney avenue for 45 years, protested against the change in behalf of himself and neighboring property owners. He elicited from Data that the space between Hodiamont cars in right turns and two minutes and eight unsuccessfully to get an agreement that there would be a car every minute if the Page line was shifted there.

Alderman Brock of the Twenty-third Ward, which includes the Finney avenue neighborhood, also protested in behalf of business establishments which are located on that street because of the ear line and are fearful of losing trade if the line is taken away. Justin T. Flint, proprietor of a restaurant at Whittier street and Finney avenue, declared the car removal would inconvenience his customers and 150 employees and depreciate the value of his property. Among other large places which would suffer he listed the West End Laundry, the Merchants' Ice and Fuel Co. and the David Ranken Jr. School of Mechanical Trades.

Residents along the Page route filed a petition of protest against the change bearing 1448 signatures. One reason given for the protest was that many roomers in homes along the line would move if the cars were taken away. A letter was presented from the Rev. M. A. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Alphonsus' Church, Grand and Finney, who said the change would inconvenience his parishioners seriously. He estimated annual attendance at his church, which holds numerous services and novenas, at $41,000, of which, he said, one-third would be affected by the change.

NEGRO PREACHER TO BE TRIED FOR 33-YEAR MURDER

By the Associated Press
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 11.—Charles Gugenhine, alias Charles Allen, Negro minister of St. Louis, must return to the State of Louisiana to face trial for a murder committed in 1897, the Missouri Supreme Court, en banc, decided today. The court denied a writ of habeas corpus granted in the St. Louis Circuit Court.

Gugenhine is charged with killing Dr. James A. Rigney in Pointe Coupee Parish. He was known as Charles Allen at that time. When arrested recently in St. Louis his extradition was ordered by Gov. Caulfield, but he applied for a writ of habeas corpus. The action of the court in denying the writ closes his last avenue of appeal in this state.

Gugenhine, arrested July 20 at his home at 312 Elmwood street, admitted he was Charles Allen, but declared he was not the killer. He told Ira Cooper, Negro Detective Lieutenant, that the shot which killed Dr. Rigney was fired by a Deputy Sheriff who had accompanied the physician when he came to collect a bill. The shot, he said, was intended for himself. Gugenhine supplemented his collections at street corner religious services by working as a janitor.

Several Frisco Trains Detoured. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 11.—Frisco trains were washed out along the Frisco main line in southwest Missouri, and northeast Oklahoma is thought to have been cleared up when the stretch of track was opened to traffic last night. Trains were detoured between Atton, Ok., and Pierce City, Mo., through Baxter Springs, Kan., and Joplin.

RIGOYEN SAILS, PROBABLY GOING,
TO MONTEVIDEO

usted President of Argentina on Cruiser—Wants to Spend Rest of Days in Paris or Spain.

Associated Press.
LA PLATA, Argentina, Sept. 11.—Hipólito Irigoyen, deposed President of Argentina, sailed from his native land today on the cruiser Alvear. It is supposed that the destination of the ship is Montevideo, Uruguay.

Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—Eighty-year-old Hipólito Irigoyen, deposed President of the Argentine, aims to spend the rest of his days in Europe, far from the turmoil of his nation which, as a youngster, he helped to bring to develop. The Provisional President, José Francisco Uriburu, yesterday commissioned Dr. Carter and Lavalle to make an examination of the ousted leader in his quarters at the seventh Infantry Barracks, La Plata.

To them he made known his wishes, expressing a willingness to spend the rest of his life in Paris or Spain. He told them that he understood his presence in the Argentine was undesirable to the elements in power. The Government has not yet taken any action in the matter.

While the report of the physicians has not yet been made public, it is known that they found the former President, whose illness has been diagnosed as pneumonia, to a normal save for certain heart disturbances attributed to his age. His temperature was 97.85 Fahrenheit, slightly below normal. He is 90 years old.

Report on Public Debt.

The ministry of finance today disclosed the results of its summary investigation of the financial affairs of the ousted administration. The investigation was alleged to have shown that the Argentine Government in two years at an accumulated debt of $250,000,000 pesos ($416,000,000) of which $20,000,000 pesos represent short terms loans. Of the amount $40,000,000 pesos loans are drawn against the Banco de la Nación Argentina. An Argentine peso is worth about 80 cents.

A further investigation has been entrusted to the Commission which will make an exhaustive study of the matter.

The chief of general staff in an official communiqué said that normal conditions had been restored throughout the Republic and that there no longer was any fear of disturbances.

Public offices and schools were said to be functioning normally, and in Buenos Aires shops and stores were operating as usual.

Bank Increase Loans.
The Argentine government added the due of the Argentine peso greatly reduced during the latter days of the Irigoyen administration, had shown a favorable rebound, strong evidence of the feeling of confidence in the provisional government of Gen. Uriburu.

Movements of troops. It was said could be continued only in order to assure the continued quiet of the nation.

Another indication of returning stability was that of local representatives of the British concern which operates the railways to the Minister of Public Works. They expressed confidence in the new government and said their feeling was shared by their London directors.

The 24 banking concerns which yesterday granted a loan of $40,000,000 for 180 days, have raised the amount to $80,000,000. Interest at the rate of 5 per cent will be charged and no security asked.

MAC MILLAN RETURNS FROM ARCTIC JOURNEY

Explorer Announces Plan for 17th Tour to Be Made Next Year.

By the Associated Press
WISCASETT, Me., Sept. 11.—

Lieutenant Commander Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, returned here yesterday in the auxiliary schooner Wendigo after his sixteenth trip into the far North. The party, which included seven Chicago boys besides the veteran crew of the Wendigo, cruised for 6000 miles and accomplished the three major objectives of the trip. MacMillan today outlined these as a visit to Iceland to attend the 100th anniversary of the Icelandic Parliament, installation of an electric light system at the Eskimo school at Nain, Labrador, and the collection of cod specimens from Greenland for scientific purposes.

MacMillan disclosed that on his next trip into the North next year he would use an airplane, already constructed and tested, to gather scientific data in conjunction with the Wendigo.

"I propose to get data at Baffin Land which will definitely determine whether the ice cap which tops the world is receding or advancing," he said.

He said the plane would be flown without stop from Wiscasett to Nain by himself and Charles Roosevelt, former Navy flyer, of Downie, Cal.

In explaining plans for next year's cruise, the explorer said that members of the 1928 expedition established markers on the Baffin Land ice cap and took photographs of the region.

"Next year we shall photograph the same region," he said, "and check the progress of the markers. The plane will be used to explore the region and with the data collected we expect to arrive at some conclusion as to whether the world may expect another ice age in the distant future or whether the cap is receding."

The Chicago boys, all in their teens, who made the trip this year were William A. Thomas Jr., John

TO PLAN STATE CAMPAIGN FOR CITY-COUNTY MERGER

Citizens' Metropolitan Committee Group to Make Arrangements at Dinner Tonight.

A State-wide speaking campaign in support of proposition No. 6 on Missouri's November ballot—the enabling amendment for the proposed consolidation of St. Louis and St. Louis County, as Greater St. Louis, will be planned at a dinner of the Speakers Committee of the Citizens' Metropolitan Committee of 1908, at the Mayfair Hotel tonight.

Numerous persons have volunteered as speakers, and some of them will be asked to go out into the State. Mass meetings will be arranged in the city and county and speakers will be available for civic organizations.

Reed, the expert who directed the drafting of the metropolitan plan, will explain it in detail at tonight's meeting. He addressed the Lions' Club of Webster Groves on the subject at luncheon today.

Representatives of the proponents of the consolidation plan were at Jefferson City on Tuesday, when the Republican and Democratic State platforms were formulated, to guard against attacks on the plan in the party platforms.

They did not receive endorsement of the speakers on the theory that the local matter is the politicians' business.

Local politicians are silent about it. County politicians were engaged in talking against the plan at Jefferson City.

DENIAL THAT JOFFRE IS ILL

Marshal's General Health Good; He Plans Trip Soon.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Denial was made today of reports current here yesterday that Marshal Joffre's health was causing alarm.

The Marshal has long been frail and friends said he was suffering from painful attacks of rheumatism, but that his general health was not causing anxiety. He is resting at his suburban home at Louveciennes, but will leave shortly on a trip to Southeastern France.

Post. Edward Hoffman, Clifford Grulie, Robert M. Potter, James Markham and Frank Elliott. Commander MacMillan said all the boys successfully passed naval steamship tests.

DANCING GIRLS TAKEN FROM HINDU TEMPLES

Regent in Southwest Province of India Replaces Them With Men.

By the Associated Press.

TRIVANDRUM, Travancore, India.—Measures to bring about the abolition of the Devadasi system whereby young girls were dedicated to the temples as part of the Hindu ritual have been completed in the State of Travancore.

Hereafter men will take the place of the dancing girls in all the places of worship.

The movement to purify the temples and save the womanhood of the world from a sprit of sacrifice to the gods.

Setulakshmi Bayi, Maharani Regent of Travancore, has received credit for the initiative in getting away with the Devadasi Temple system which for centuries has been maintained by the State.

She made a chance visit to a temple where there were dancing girls and soon afterward the Regent abolished the system of serving with instruction that men be appointed to take the places of the girls.

The girls did all the cleaning work at the temples, this being part of their duties from childhood when they were turned over by their families to the priests for the rest of their natural life.

Many of them ran away and instead of returning to their homes often took up their abodes in questionable neighborhoods.

Travancore is 2,000 miles of about 800 square miles and a population of more than 4,000,000. The State occupies the southwest portion of the Indian Peninsula.

SAYS RASKOB IS FINANCING DEMOCRATS ALMOST ALONE
Republican House Leader Shows He Advanced $40,000 in Two Months.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Congressman Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican House leader, said in a statement through the Republican National Committee yesterday that the last Democratic National Committee report showed that from June 1 to Aug. 31 John J. Raskob had financed the Democratic organization almost alone. During that time, he said, the Democratic committee's cash advanced in total of $40,000, while other contributions listed in the treasurer's report totaled $150.

The report, he continued, showed that Mr. Raskob's loans to his personally underwritten organization amounted to $100,000 up to Aug. 31, 1930.

"This certainly substantiates the statement set forth by Mr. Frank Kent, nationally known Democratic journalist, that Mr. Raskob set up and is financing the propaganda agency in Washington which has for its sole purpose the vilification of the President of the United States."

SECRETARY OF LABOR DAVIS SAYS BUSINESS IS PICKING UP
Addresses American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 11.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis said today at a luncheon of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers:

"We have all been carried away to such a depth of pessimism that when anyone ventured to say that good times would return, he was labeled a 'Pollyanna.' I am sincere in stating that there are many indications that business is picking up and going on. Agreements have been reached recently that guarantee peaceful relations in an industry employing 150,000 workers. The pact signed is to run for five and one-half years, with a payroll that will run to nearly two billion dollars, based on normal work during that period.

"Just before I left for Pittsburgh, a big Eastern concern added a thousand new employees to its payroll and at the latter part of this month I am to officiate in another of our industrial cities where another 21,000 employees will be given employment.

"The losses and discouragements that we have all had to endure of late have hit bottom and are on the upswing."

Printers' Union Disciplinary Act.
HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 11.—The International Typographical Union in several cities in the state of Texas here yesterday passed a by-law providing that a member disciplined for unbecoming conduct shall not seek redress in the civil courts, under penalty of summary expulsion.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—James

Frederick's Questionnaire, with Sonny

Workman up, won the Twin City

Handicap here today in a fashion that stamps him one of the best colts of the year. Questionnaire carried 118 pounds, conceded from 2 to 23 pounds to his opponents and made them look very cheap.

It was a great performance and when the time, 2:02 4-5, for the mile and a quarter, was hung up, it created some excitement.

Two lengths back came J. L.

Widener's Curate with W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland third.

Questionnaire was the favorite at odds on. Workman got him away on top and then nursed him along by a length or so to the far turn, where he drew away to a two lengths' lead. He held this advantage to the final furlong, where Workman used the whip. It was really unnecessary as Questionnaire was winning easily and flashed home two lengths ahead. Curate beat Dr. Freeland a length and a half for the place.

TILDEN DEFEATS VAN RYN, HUNTER LOSES TO DOEG IN NATIONAL EVENT

PEDLEY, 34

BIG BILL HITS STRIDE AFTER LOSING FIRST SET OF MATCH

By the Associated Press.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Bill Tilden came through the quarterfinal round of the national tennis singles championship today with a cold front, defeating Johnny Van Ryn, No. 5 in the national ranking, by scores of 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Big Bill, the defending champion, literally ached his way to victory, cannonading his terrific service into court for a total of 20 aces in the four sets. It was Tilden's famous cannonball which pulled him out of his holes again, and again, but he had good command of every shot known to the game and generally held the upper hand in the long, deep court changes.

Hunter Loses.

Francis T. Hunter, America's second ranking tennis star, was eliminated by Johnny Doeg, strapping Canta Monica, Cal., youth. The scores were 11-13, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Overcoming a lead of two sets to one against as great a fighter as there is in the game, Doeg put as many as 100 aces in his exhibitions of his career.

He was at his best in the last two sets and in the final chapter he scored the deciding service break in the seventh game by returning Hunter's deep, whizzing drives until at last an error came.

Doeg's own service was invulnerable during the last two sets as he came bounding in to kill Hunter's necessary soft returns.

BIG SIX FOOTBALL

NORMAN, Ok.—Four lettermen were among the 30-odd gridiron aspirants who reported for the initial practices at Oklahoma yesterday.

A few dozen more veterans expected. The quartet on hand for the morning drill included two backs and two linemen—Guy Warren, Clyde Kirk, Custis Berry and Darrell Ewing.

MANHATTAN, Kan.—Sixty-two men reported for the first Kansas Aggie workout, limbered up on the field and then ran for the shelter of the stadium as rain fell. While the rain came down Coach McMillin talked. Fifteen lettermen reported. Gerald Smith, formerly of Washburn, is eligible to compete, having been in engineering school here last year but not playing on the freshman squad. He is a back.

LAWRENCE, Kan.—Big Jim Bauch was among the 40 Jayhawkers to answer the roll call for the first drill. Two workouts were held yesterday. Coach Bill Hargass intimated he might begin secrete practice soon.

LINCOLN, Neb.—Fortified with backs and guards, Nebraska faces the problem of developing a centered tackle and ends to maintain a strong front in the face of spirited opposition from other schools seeking the championship. The Cornhuskers have held for the two years of the Big Six. Fifty-three men, including 12 lettermen, reported for morning and afternoon workouts yesterday.

AMES, Ia.—With no class work starting for two weeks, Iowa State gridsters will have nothing to distract them in their "two-a-day" practice program announced by Head Coach Neil Workman. Twenty-eight men reported for the first practice yesterday, including Capt. Maynard Spears, tackle.

CAPE GIRARDEAU ELEVEN TO PLAY EIGHT GRID GAMES

By the Associated Press.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 11.—Twelve lettermen and 10 reserves from the 1929 football team of Cape Girardeau Teachers' College are expected to return this year. The 1928 gridiron prospects are far from gloomy.

Pre-season training started Sept. 8 and school will begin Sept. 16. The squad is expected to number nearly 50.

George Flamm, former University of Missouri Athletic star, is the coach.

The new stadium, Houck Athletic Field, will be dedicated the afternoon of the opening game. The game with West Tennessee also will be a day contest, but the other three home games will be played at night.

The schedule: Oct. 2, Carbondale (Ill.) Teachers at Cape Girardeau; Oct. 10, Northwest Missouri Teachers at Maryville (night); Oct. 17, Haskell Reserves at Cape Girardeau (night); Oct. 24, West Tennessee at Cape Girardeau; Nov. 1, Carbondale at Carbondale (Ill.); Nov. 7, McKendree at Cape Girardeau (night); Nov. 14, West Kentucky Teachers at Murray, Ky.; Nov. 21, Southwest Teachers at Cape Girardeau (night).

Goldstein Stops Zivic. NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Ruby Goldstein, weighing 142 pounds, knocked out Jack Zivic, Pittsburgh welterweight, in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout last night at Henderson's Bow, Coney Island. In the 10-round semifinal Joey Kaufmann, 139 1/2, and Augie Perno, 137 1/4, put up a thrilling scrap. Kaufmann gained the decision.

Umpire's Encouragement Puts Mack Into Organized Baseball

Continuing Life-Story, Athletics' Leaders, Tells Also of First Telegrams and First Offers to Play

THIS is the fourth of a series of articles by Connie Mack, manager of the world champion Athletics, telling of his 50 years in baseball. The articles will appear daily in the Post-Dispatch.

No. 4.

By Connie Mack.

UMPIRE TILDEN was destined to have a great influence on my career. No sooner had he called the first meeting of the series that ended the game than he turned to me and warmly congratulated me on my catching, particularly on my steady handing of Pitcher Hogan in the final inning when North Brookfield had a chance to win.

I had some sizzling pitches to hand when he fanned the two final batters but managed to hold on to them and they stuck in my glove like burns. He then asked me if I intended to take on the career of a professional ball player.

"If you do," he went on, "I will be pleased to recommend you."

Tilden was a young, fine looking and well built man and his words sunk deep. His kindly suggestion caused me for the first time to want to go out and play professional ball. I decided right then and there that I would.

I worked at the shoe factory that winter until March, 1884, when it closed down and went out of business.

Connie's is rich in pitchers and great hitters. The team is on the upgrade as to morale and physical condition. It is battling on his home stand, except for one game with the Phillies. If any team is sitting prettier than another, it is Brooklyn.

The Cub? From the broken appearance of their pitching staff, it will take more than telegraphic encouragement from Chicago fans to keep them from sinking before the finish.

How Times Change.

CHICAGO newspapers are beginning to seek the public to come to the aid of the Chicago Cubs —and the two big telegraph companies, by telegram of encouragement, with telegrams of encouragement to the team and invites the public to join in.

This is quite an about-face.

Only a few years ago the Tribune's representative, Mr.

Frank Smith, called on this writer (and on other sports editors throughout the major league circuit) with the object of obtaining co-operation in minimizing the display of major league baseball news. The Tribune, at that time, unless our memory is playing a dirty trick, limited the major leagues to 200 words and played up college and high school baseball.

The Tribune found long ago that major league baseball interest was too solidly grounded in the hearts of fans to be treated in this cavalier fashion. Today's exhortation on the front page completes, apparently, the surrender of Chicago to the view that the public is entitled to know what is going on in the major leagues.

It happened that William Hogan, the pitcher, was my battery mate with East Brookfield the previous year, and had been signed by the Meriden, Conn., team.

Meriden had just ordered its players to report and Hogan duly went there with his tall catcher, much saddened and depressed, left bound.

On arrival in Meriden, Hogan found that one of the two catchers obtained by the club had decided to become discouraged.

Connie's is a team of fine players.

I also visited the owners of clubs in New Britain and Hartford. I received some encouragement but returned to East Brookfield with a heavy heart. Nobody had asked for my name on the dotted line. I then wrote to Frank Selee, later famous manager of the Boston team, for a place on his team.

BARNES AND SMITH TO RESUME PLAY IN MATCH FOR PLACE IN FINALS

Charles W. Barnes Jr. and Sidney Smith will resume their tennis duel at the Triple A Club yesterday afternoon. The players started the match, semi-final-round contest in the St. Louis district championship last week, but darkness stopped the play after the score reached the two-all in sets.

The contest was started again yesterday afternoon, but darkness stopped play in the third set. Barnes was unable to return for the district event. Barnes came back to win the second set, 6-2, and reached a five-all in the third set when Ted Bach, umpire, called the match because of darkness. The players are still resume today with the score standing five-all.

Dr. Frank Dieknecht, chairman of the St. Louis district tournament committee, announced the singles final would be the Saturday afternoon. William Bacon will oppose the winner in the match between Barnes and Smith.

shows much improvement. The player was unable to return for the district event. The tournament committee said that he would have more time to play. The two sets will be the Eastern and other high schools.

Telegram Saying "Be Dis

proved by Secret

ARTICLE IV.
M. MAURICE CAMPBELL
it was not only the brewer that were to have an easier time during the presidential campaign. Aug. 28, 1928, I re ceived the following telegram, which was sent to every prohibi
tive administrator in the country:
"Any unusual spectacular and dangerous activities must be prohibited against. Newspaper pub lics and personal interviews are to be avoided. Political prop aganda is made out of garbled ac counts of prohibition activities. In struct your agents to be vigilant but careful and discreet."

"SEYMOUR LOWMAN,
Assistant Secretary."
In other words, I was being plainly told to lay up on enforce ment during the heat of the presi dential campaign. Several other administrators spoke to me about this telegram, and they all rebuked against the restrictions placed upon

Proposed Raid Called Off.
A few days later, when I was protesting about it. Under Secre tary Ogden Mills showed me the original copy of this telegram. The handwriting on it, changing words here and there, Mr. Mills told me, was that of Secretary Mellon. That, apparently, was sufficient justifi cation for it in Mr. Mills' view.

During this summer of 1928 I was asked for help by Col. A. J.
Hanlon, then administrator in Newark. His men had obtained evidence against 60 night clubs and restaurants in Atlantic City, some of them of the most vicious char acter, the kind that have figured in the sensational revelations of political corruption at At lantic City during the last year.
Col. Hanlon was getting ready to raid them and wanted to borrow some of my men.

But he then told me he had sud denly received instructions not to raid and not to present the evi dence he had obtained to the Unit ed States Attorney.

Convinced of Insincerity.
There had been a letter also a week before in which Mr. Lowman warned against anything "sensational" that would make political prop aganda. He had added very carefully that "this does not mean that I am asking you not to enforce the law."

At any rate I had the Lowman telegram. How could I go to my men with any such message with out hurting their feelings and ruining the morale which I had taken such care to create?
However, I posted a notice that Washington said to be "vigilant but discreet."

Harassed on every side by poli ticians interested only in patron age or campaign contributions, and in Washington, in most in stances, supporting them in their demands for favors. I became con vinced that Treasury officials in Washington were not sincere in their desire to enforce prohibition.

Writes His Resignation.
After careful consideration
there, I decided that the only step for me to take was that of resignation. With this resolu tion firmly in my mind I wrote my resignation with an accompanying

“YOU CANNOT ENFORCE PROHIBITION”

Fourth of a Series of Articles by Maj. Maurice Campbell, Former Administrator in New York.

Putting Soft Pedal on Dry Law Enforcement in New York During Presidential Campaign

Telegram Saying “Be Discreet” Was Sent to Regional Directors, Maj. Campbell Was Told, After Message Had Been Approved by Secretary Mellon.

ARTICLE IV.
By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL
That was not on the brewerries that were to have an easier time during the presidential campaign. Aug. 28, 1928, I received the following telegram, which was sent to every prohibition administrator in the country: “Any unusual spectacular and sensational activities must be guarded against. Newspapers and personal interviews are to be avoided. Political propaganda is made out of garbled accounts of prohibition activities. Instruct your agents to be vigilant and discreet.”

“SEYMOUR LOWMAN,
Secretary.”

In other words, I was being firmly told to ease up on enforcement during the heat of the presidential campaign. Several other administrators spoke to me about the telegram, and they all rebelled against the restrictions placed upon them.

Proposed Raid Called Off.

A few days later, when I was pestering about it, Under Secretary Ogden Mills showed me the original copy of this telegram. He was on the telephone to me at that time, and there, Mr. Mills told me, was that of Secretary Mellon. That, apparently, was sufficient justification for it in Mr. Mills' view.

During this summer of 1928 I was asked for help by Col. A. J. Hanlon, then administrator in Newark. His men had obtained evidence against 60 night clubs and restaurants in Atlantic City, some of which he had charged him with the kind that have figured in the sensational revelations of sex and political corruption at Atlantic City during the last year. Col. Hanlon was getting ready to raid them and wanted to borrow some of my men.

But he then told me he had suddenly received instructions not to raid and not to present the evidence he had obtained to the United States Attorney.

Convinced of Insincerity.

There had been a letter also a week before in which Mr. Lowman warned against anything “sensational” that would make political propaganda. He had added very seriously that “this does not mean that I am asking you not to enforce the law.”

At the rate I had the Lowman telegram, How could I go to my men with any such message without utterly destroying their faith in me and ruining the morale which I had taken such care to create? However, I posted a notice that Washington said to be “vigilant but discreet.”

Harassed on every side by politicians interested only in patronage or campaign contributions, and in Washington, in most instances, supporting them in their demands for favors, I became convinced that Treasury officials in Washington were not sincere in their desire to enforce prohibition.

Wrote His Resignation.

After careful consideration, however, I decided that the only step for me to take was that of resigning. With the words still firmly in my mind I wrote my resignation with an accompanying statement, in which I said:

“I regret this course, but I cannot consecutively longer remain inactive and comply with Treasury Department orders that clearly indicate a policy of mild enforcement during this pre-election period. I have labored conscientiously to raise the morale of my force to a high standard and I cannot see that morale is shattered through orders from the assistant secretary of the Treasury which instruct my men to make only such cases as will not pass comment and criticism from a hostile press and from individuals who are openly opposed to the Constitution of the United States.

“I consider my oath of office and too sacred to accommodate to any political situation.”

Having decided on my course of action, I felt that I needed advice, and on Sept. 12, I went to see Gen. Lincoln C. Anderson, formerly assistant secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement. It was through Gen. Anderson that I entered the prohibition service in 1926.

I told Gen. Andrews my story and explained to him the reasons for my contemplated resignation. He was much concerned and re-drafted some parts of the state-anything he wanted in the Prohibition Bureau.

Mr. Mills said that Senator Curtis should be informed of the situation, but that the Senator was so busy making campaign speeches that he could not be interrupted until after election. He promised that if Steinberg continued in activities after election he would see that Senator Curtis was notified, or that Steinberg himself to off.

The under secretary explained that the feeling between Senator Curtis and himself was not very cordial and he hesitated to take the matter up personally, but if it was necessary he would do so or have some one else handle it after he had told them there to say I would not be home.

However, Dr. Doran got hold of me that night on the telephone and said that Mr. Mills wanted to take it but I instructed my secretary to speak to me on the telephone to take it but I instructed my secretary to take it but I was in Washington the morning after and together we went across the street to Mr. Mills' office in the Treasury, and this was done.

Tells Mills of Situation.

Later that afternoon I was informed that Mr. Lowman wanted to speak to me on the telephone but I instructed my secretary to take it but I had left the office. Again, later that night, Mr. Lowman called my house in Pelham Manor but I had told them there to say I would not be home.

However, Dr. Doran got hold of me that night on the telephone and said that Mr. Mills wanted to take it but I instructed my secretary to take it but I was in Washington the morning after and together we went across the street to Mr. Mills' office in the Treasury, and this was done.

He asked me what the trouble was and I told him as briefly as I could all my difficulties, ending with the letter and telegram from Mr. Lowman in which I had been practically told to keep my men inactive in these pre-election days.

I said I did not see much relief in that for me at the present time but Mr. Mills insisted it could not be taken up with Senator Curtis until after election.

Mr. Mills told me that when he came into the Treasury Department it was understood he was to have nothing to do with prohibition, and he would not have accepted his post if it had not been understood.

He further informed me that the letter he had sent to me at the Treasury Department had been sent to every other administrator on Mr. Mellon's personal instructions and he showed me the original copy of the telegram.

Other Rebellied.

I said I objected to such instructions because of the effect it would have on my policy with regard to the breweries.

He told me that the breweries were right and that the political situation was so tight that the breweries should be closed tight if they were shipping real beer.

He said this was an administrative matter for me to determine with the Commissioner and for us to adopt the necessary procedure.

I told him also of the activities of Senator Curtis' campaign managers in New York, Matthew Quay Glaser and Joseph Steinberg, in permit matters, which I will relate in later articles.

With regard to Steinberg and Glaser, Mr. Mills said that neither of them had any influence, that Steinberg was just a “little politician” and was a “joke.”

Brings in Curtis' Name.

I said that Steinberg might be a joke to him but he was no joke to me because it seemed he was getting support from Senator Curtis and, in consequence, it was reported in New York that he could get the political situation in New York was paramount and nothing was to be permitted that would damage it.

It seemed to me that Steinberg could assist in winning the State to the Republicans by his activities in prohibition matters he must be allowed to continue.

Before going to Mr. Mills' office Dr. Doran had informed me that on the invitation of Steinberg and Glaser he intended to come to New York for the dedication of the Hoover-Curtis Club in a few days.

I mentioned this to Mr. Mills and told him that I had advised the commissioner not to go, and I was gratified when Mr. Mills told me that he could not be interrupted until after election. He promised that if Steinberg continued in activities after election he would see that Senator Curtis was notified, or that Steinberg himself to off.

Overruled by Doran.

Later in the day I discussed the brewery situation with Dr. Doran. I thought I ought to try to revoke the permits of the Phoenix Cereal Beverage Co. and the Interboro Beverage Co. in Brooklyn, but Dr. Doran instructed me not to take any such step immediately. I also asked Dr. Doran to let me put my men back in these breweries, but he said that would be unwise at the time.

Unemployment and the President

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
JUDGING BY "A. E. F.'s" letter in the Post-Dispatch, he is under the delusion that the President can "keep the working people working."

It is bad enough to have both parties in such mortal terror of the Anti-Saloon League that they are afraid to have an opinion about prohibition. Their joint assertion that they are in favor of the enforcement of all laws is the worst political blah that was ever written into professions of faith. In saying that they are both in default of leadership. They are both cowards. They deserve to be rebuked by the people for not having the courage of a conviction, and it is a pity there is not another party in the field by means of which they can be rebuked. The party thus becomes of more importance than the State. Both Republicans and Democrats can see the very theory of American government distorted, the rights of the states thrust aside, the guarantees of the people violated, the Federal courts prostituted, the jails and prisons filled to overflowing, public office holders reduced to the moral status of trained seals, and the grinning figure of hypocrisy stalk the land—and not have an opinion about it!

THAT WHITE HOUSE MAIL

A dispatch from Washington says that although former President Coolidge officially stopped having his mail sent to the White House 18 months ago, dozens of letters still come there from him and members of his family. Not only that, but every now and then mail still arrives "from some far-removed sections of the country addressed to Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson." We hadn't thought of it before, but by the same token what stacks of unclaimed mail there must be at Stratford-on-Avon for the late Wm. Shakespeare, Esq. Caesar's fan letters long ago must have taxed postal storage space at Rome. Wonder what the Athens Postmaster does with mail with advice for Alexander the Great and Pericles of the Golden Age?

DOMINANTLY PROGRESSIVE.

Perhaps some day the men who control production will decide to give the working man a share in the benefits arising from the added use of machinery by shortening the hours of work and paying adequate wages in all lines of work, not alone in a favored few. Perhaps some day they will realize that they cannot go on forever adding more labor-saving machinery and laying off more men without sowing the seeds of revolution and anarchy.

I. H.

Excess Condemnation.

IN YOUR editorial of Sept. 5 on "Excess Condemnation," you mention that such power secured to the city by constitutional amendment would authorize the city to sell the property not needed for the improvement, that is, the property condemned in excess of that required, at a profit, which would help pay for the improvement. In other words, you say that such authority would empower the city to deal in real estate, including speculating therein.

Should such power be conferred upon the municipalities of the State? Opposition and argument of "civic workers" cannot be taken as conclusive on this important matter. It would be most valuable to the Missouri voters to know how many, if any, of the 14 States mentioned in your editorial, allowing excess condemnation, permit incorporated cities and towns to speculate in real estate. Such does not appear to be a proper municipal function in the United States, however the power may be conferred by the Constitution. Should such extraordinary power be vested in municipalities?

The Six Worst Sellers.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Y OUR editorial section is an oasis in the desert of modern literature, made fresher by Will Durst's article entitled "The Six Worst Sellers."

His remarks about the expensive advertising of books, which makes so much of the retail taboos, because it might offend some substantial minority or be unintelligible to the 12-year-old, gives point to the warning, often heard, that money may retard culture.

EUGENE DAVIS.

Ruth's Rule and Roll.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IT'S all right to give Ruth the raspberry for her prohibition flop, and the Post-Dispatch is doing the job with its customary thoroughness. And it is all right, too, to present, in print and picture, the case in her acknowledged challenge to the 12-year-old, gives point to the warning, often heard, that money may retard culture.

EUGENE DAVIS.

Of all the blunders by the Public Service Co., its decision not to reconsider granting one day off in eight to its street car crews probably will do the most toward arousing public resentment. Aside from the views of those who object to continuous labor on religious grounds, it has been proved time and again that no man is capable of doing his best without a regular day of rest. Even in Soviet Russia, where the religious factor is ignored, regular rest days are provided for all laborers. The decision is doubly disconcerting at a time when government, industrial and labor leaders are sincerely considering means of distributing available employment among as many of the select few.

This has been the story of other sports. The day of packed stands at football games dates from the time the village leeman's son had just as much chance of making the varsity as did the son of the town banker—if he belonged to the right fraternity.

A LINCOLN REPUBLICAN.

CUT IN THE DEATH RATE.

THE SENATE CHANGES CLOWNS.

What Prohibition Really Costs

Recent statement by the Prohibition Bureau that enforcement costs six cents per capita misleading if it does not include use of navy, coast guard, Federal courts and penitentiaries; money received by whisky runners and bootleggers alone said to be $200,000,000; waste makes cost figures "constructive hypocrisy."

James W. Byrnes, President, Missouri Association Against Prohibition.

IT WOULD be a wholesome thing, for economy and reduced taxation, if the departments of the Federal Government would reduce their operating cost to a per capita basis and show all of the elements of cost, and particularly state the result of their activities. The recent statement of the Prohibition Bureau that the cost of Federal prohibition enforcement is 6 cents per capita is partially true, apparently based on the expense of the unit itself, but misleading unless it includes the use of the Navy and Coast Guard, the cost of operation of penitentiaries, the use of the Federal courts as well as the loss sustained by citizens from delay in legitimate operation of these courts.

If prohibition were right in principle, there could be no discussion on the low level of the economic side, but since the question is raised, it might be well to review some of the economic effects. On the face of it 6 cents per capita to police 10,000 miles of border, 48 states and 120,000,000 people is a ridiculous amount. An official of the Department of Justice has stated that this is utterly helpless to enforce the law without the use of the 170,000 peace officers of the several states, and it's well known, for practical purposes, real enforcement does not exist.

In the matter of the economic side, attention is invited to the initial cost on the passage of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act based on the Federal census of manufacturers, division of the United States Brewers' Association, returns of the Internal Revenue Department and estimates. The total taxes derived from liquor traffic—Federal, state, county and city—$600,000,000. Estimated value of farm products—corn, rice, barley, hops, rye, grapes, etc.—used in manufacture, together with sundry materials and supplies such as barrels, boxes, bottles and machinery—$370,000,000. Coal consumed, United States Fuel Administration estimate, 200,000,000 tons at $2 per ton, $400,000,000. Estimated salaries and wages, direct and indirect, $6,000,000. Estimated freight payment in and out, and on supplies, direct and indirect, 150,000 carloads at $50 per car, $15,000,000. Capital investment in distilleries, breweries and wineries, $962,432,000; 5 per cent for contingencies, $106,441,600; 5 per cent yearly profit on wholesale sales, $107,183,680. This makes a total of $2,250,867,280, which takes no cognizance of the business turned over in a retail way. Real estate values, wages and sales would amount to $750,000,000. Together, in round figures, these represent an economic upset of $2,000,000,000.

From another viewpoint, the Ontario Liquor Board's price is $41.40 per case for Canadian Old Crow whisky, which bootleggers peddle at $100 per case. One of our outstanding weeklies some years back estimated 10,000 cases per day came into the country over the 10,000 miles of border. Without regard to the legitimate manufacturing profit, from these figures it may readily be seen over $200,000,000 goes into the hands of whisky runners, bootleggers and grafters, or a sum sufficient to pay

Debunking a Chamber of Commerce

From the Christian Science Monitor.

DO business men's organizations composed exclusively of business men operate in an unbusiness-like fashion?

Two years ago the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce decided it was included in that class. It was reorganized, the business leaders removed, paid president reinstated in office, "chain of the heart" elected, and things have been happening ever since.

"We have simply 'debunked' the Chamber of Commerce in St. Louis," said W. B. Weisenburger, a banker who was induced to accept the presidency of the organization. "The spellbinder and back-slapper have been replaced by the accountant, the engineer and the research man."

The reorganizers, led by Harold W. Bixby, then honorary president of the Chamber of Commerce and one of the men who backed Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight, believe that such an organization should be operated along the same business lines as a great steel corporation or any other enterprise.

A salary consistent with the importance of the job was attached to the president. This was an innovation here and St. Louis is reputed to be one of only two cities in the United States with a paid president of its Chamber of Commerce. Leading citizens still serve on the board of directors without compensation, the chairman being elected.

One of the first steps of the reorganized Chamber was the establishment of a research department. Mr. Weisenburger continued. "We wanted to seek advancement not on desire and ambition, but on the basis of economic feasibility. The new Chamber of Commerce—the business organization—in any city can afford to be militant, because it proceeds on established facts."

"We do not ask improved highways or better air mail facilities simply because we should like to have them but we base our claim on the value to be received by the parties from whom we are asking the contribution. We are simply using the twentieth century business man's method of attack."

Since Mr. Weisenburger became executive head, the chamber has transformed a deficit of $122,000 into a surplus of $500,000. It induced Congress to provide for a direct air mail route from St. Louis to New York. It proved to the State Highway Commission that the entire State would benefit through construction of more highways near St. Louis. It sponsored a foreign trade advertising campaign that proved beneficial to the city's merchants.

"It is not our intent to claim the creation of any revolutionary idea," Mr. Weisenburger stated. "It simply modified its Chamber of Commerce after the business man's organization in such a manner as to command his respect."

GETTING RID OF HIM.

From the Boston Globe.

AS we are entering what promises to be a rather hectic political campaign, everything possible should be done to brace up the hopes of those who are striving to get into office. The following is told of a resident of a Vermont village who shows that even his local unpopularity may still help an office-seeker to win his place.

"Will you vote for me for Congress?" Squire?"

"I voted for Bill."

"For Bill?" Thought you didn't like Bill."

"Don't. That's why I voted for him. Tired o' seen' him hangin' round home."

In general it seems to be an American characteristic to cherish an uncritical belief in inevitable progress and in something called education as holding a place of leadership in the national trend from the social good to the social better with the best as certain as sunrise. This attitude may be scorned by our sophisticates and intellectually demolished by our intellectuals, but that it persists in the great majority can hardly be denied. As in the days of the little red schoolhouse, America was still the palladium of our liberties and the unending route of progress, as a people we still cling to the belief that education is the panacea for all social ills. Our faith in the name of like a sacred heretic, and it does not commonly occur to us that our society is now overwhelmingly industrial. This profound change in our mode of life must have had a great effect upon the real meaning of the magic words "education," and that from exercising leadership in the social realm, education might be in process of becoming, if it has not already become, a creature of the industrial system and its faithful servant.

Evidently a thorough reconsideration of the whole subject is desirable, and that is what we have in "The American Road to Culture." Dr. Counts, the author, is Associate Director of the International Institute and professor of education at the Teachers' College of Columbia University. His reputation as an authority in his field is international, and it is apparent from the first to the last page of his book that his is not the purpose of those who write sensational indictments of this and that, in the hope of becoming conspicuous. He does not attack; he examines, always writing with great caution, carefully verifying his statements as he proceeds. He has placed himself under no obligation to support a thesis and he is clearly concerned at every point to make the situation appear either this way or that way, but to determine what it really may be after general allowance has been made for the errors of personal bias and experience.

Nevertheless, or rather because this is a startling book and undoubtedly will shock many a complacent optimist whose faith in a word has been untouched by the fact that the vital meaning of the word may have undergone a profound change.

The following quotation may serve, here and there, to stimulate interest in the book.

The highest expression of the American principle of practical utility is found in the universal

W. T. Treadaway's Rex Lee Bourbon and Rainbow Rose Place in Five-Gaited Contest.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 11.—With the selection of four geldings for the field for Saturday night's $10,000 grand championship, the started saddle horses, 10 years old, at the Kentucky State Fair, Show, were selected last night. Stallions and mares were chosen at eligibility trials Monday and Tuesday nights. The conditions for the stake, the most coveted prize in the saddle horse world, have again been changed so that only four in each division will compete, instead of five as previously announced.

The eligibles, their owners and the positions in which they finished in the trials follow:

Stallions—Chief of Longview, Mrs. W. P. Roth, Redwood City, Cal.; first; Eddie May's King, Apache Ranch, Spofford, Tex.; second; Rex Lee Bourbon, W. T. Treadaway, St. Louis; third; King Genius, Dixiana Farm, Lexington, Ky., fourth.

Mares—Sweetheart on Parade, Mrs. Roth, first; Summer Horn, Apache Ranch, second; Joanna Jones, Dr. C. H. Bramwell, Chillicothe, third; Rainbow Rose, Mrs. Treadaway, fourth.

Geldings—Beau Wolf, Dixiana Farm, first; Vagabond Prince, Miss Mary Fier, Oklahoma City, Okla., second; Cocoler, Dr. Bramwell, third; Silver Star, Charles Cook, Shelbyville, Ky., fourth.

author of numerous measures designed to "put teeth in prohibition enforcement."

Hudson was defeated by State Senator Seymour H. Person, who was counsel for Mrs. Etta May Miller in the celebrated case in which that aged Missouri woman was sentenced to life imprisonment for possession of a pint of liquor, but later was pardoned. Cramton's opponent was Jesse P. Walcott, who advocated submision of the prohibition question to a national referendum. Cramton has been in Congress 17 years; Hudson's service began eight years ago. Both, but especially Cramton, were considered virtually impregnable in their districts.

Dry League Defeated.
As their candidate for Senator, Colorado Republicans nominated the only one in a field of five whom the Anti-Saloon League had pronounced "unsatisfactory." The winner, George H. Shaw, was supported by Senator Warman, but bitterly opposed by the retiring Senator Phipps, who informed the candidacy of William V. Hodges, former Republican national treasurer.

When the Republicans of Washington State went on record at their party convention several months ago in favor of modification, their action was repudiated by Representative John F. Miller of Seattle, who declared that the action of the convention did not represent the sentiment of the voters. He was opposed and defeated in Tuesday's election by Ralph A. How, a man whose Democratic opponent in the general campaign, Charles C. Hefner, also is wet.

The veteran Washington Representative, Albert Johnson, who ran as a dry, was renominated by 5000.

The renomination of Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, by an overwhelming majority, also had a wet slant, although the contest turned more directly upon his record of party insurgency. He was assisted by Gov. Chase, for having advocated the return of beer, and for having voted against the Hoover policies on numerous occasions, these being the two principal issues of the campaign.

While Couzens was winning by 250,000, the veteran Senator Ransdell, a Democrat who voted for the Hawley-Smoot tariff and for the confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes and John J. Parker for the Supreme Court, was being defeated decisively by Gov. Long of Louisiana, and Senator Cole Blease, South Carolina Democrat who voted with the Republicans for Parker's confirmation and on many other important tests, was losing to former Representative Byrnes.

Similarly, former Gov. John G. Winant, running as a Progressive Republican, won the party gubernatorial nomination in New Hampshire in the face of bitter opposition from the old guard faction led by Senator George Moses, and despite a tradition which hitherto has limited New Hampshire Governors to one term. Winant is expected to oppose Moses for the Senate two years hence, and the suggestion already is heard in Washington that Moses may decide to retire voluntarily.

The two outstanding leaders of the Progressive group in the Senate, Norris of Nebraska and Borah of Idaho, already had been renominated-Borah without opposition and Norris by a substantial majority.

Gov. Roosevelt's unequivocal declaration for repeal put an end to prolonged speculation as to whether he might seek to evade that issue because of his prospects as a potential Democratic candidate for President in 1932. He is now on record with former Gov. Al Smith and with Dwight Morrow, a Republican presidential possibility, in favor of restoring liquor control to the states.

"Betty, this Steelcote 4-Hour Dry Enamel makes painting so easy!"

How easy it is to get wonderful results with Steelcote 4-hour Dry Enamel, the modern satin-finish enamel for wood, metal, plaster, brick or concrete.

Steelcote 4-hour Enamel flows on so freely and dries itself out so well that it can be worked without showing a single brush mark.

Dries hard in two to four hours, yet does not dry too quickly and roll or lump up under the brush as with quick-drying enamels or brushing lacquer.

Hot water, liquid stains, washing powders, ammonia and similar things do not affect a Steelcote finish. It will not raise the old finish when used over painted surface. No disagreeable odor.

You can cover any surface in one coat except where light tints are used over dark surfaces, when two coats should be applied.

with 505,790,000 bushels last year. Of this, 597,392,000 bushels is winter wheat. The oats crop was forecast at 1,390,892,000 bushels, with the condition at 80.3 per cent.

Prospects for potatoes fell off by 34,000,000 bushels, hay more than 1,000,000 tons, and important reductions were forecast for beans, peas, sorghums, buckwheat, canning vegetables, tobacco, flaxseed, soybeans, sweet potatoes, grapes,

cabbage and various other products. Pasture conditions reflected the severity of the drought by declining to a new low level on Sept.

MISSOURI CORN
CROP 46 PER CENT

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 11.—

A loss of slightly more than one-half of the Missouri corn crop, as a result of the prolonged drought, is indicated by a crop bulletin issued this afternoon by E. A. Log-gan of the United States Department of Agriculture and Jewel

Mayes, secretary of the Missouri

State Board of Agriculture, esti-imating the yield at $1,724,000 bushels, based on condition of the crop Sept. 1. This estimated yield is 46 per cent of the estimate of 177,660,000 bushels of corn made by the same experts last July, based on condition of the crop July 1.

Condition of the crop, Sept. 1 was 84 percent of normal, indicating an average yield of 13.8 bushels an acre, or a total of $1,724,000 bushels from the 5,922,000 acres planted in corn in Missouri this year. Last year the yield was 126,- 524,000 bushels, an average yield of 23.5 bushels an acre from the 5,384,000 acres planted in 1929.

The corn crop for 1930 will be the smallest in Missouri since 1921, the bulletin stated.

The Missouri corn crop has been smaller than the 1929 estimate in only two other years in the last 65 years, the bulletin stated. In 1874 the crop totaled 46,049,000 bushels from 2,878,000 acres, and in 1901 the crop totaled 66,426,000

bushels from 6,778,000 acres.

The bulletin held forth some future encouragement to farmers by recalling that corn crops in Missouri usually were better than the average in years following extreme dryness. The 1914 growing season was quite dry following a drought period in 1913.

"Missouri corn lost heavily during August, mostly occurring in the first nine days of the month without rain, accompanied by temperatures mainly above 100 degrees with hot winds," the bulletin stated. "However, deterioration

continued in some sections up to the first days of September.

Since that time rather general rains have stopped most of the losses, although the damage in the large portion of the acreage was beyond repair by Aug. 10.

"A large portion of the acreage has stalks with no ears, or nubbins and top-sided ears.

The corn would not have done as well as we expected," the bulletin stated. "The yield will be 46,049,000 bushels from 5,922,000 acres last year.

The crop was quite generally good and of high quality. Oat production this year has been exceeded in only a few other years in 1925 with 50,600,000 bushels in 1929 with 58,500,000 bushels and in 1917 with 59,200,000 bushels.

Wheat sowing prospects in the middle of August were only 92 percent of the acreage seeded last year, but rainfall and the general design to sow wheat fall, winter and early spring pasture, as well as for early summer feed may increase the seeding considerably over the amount reported in August.

The hay crop is estimated at 3,

317,000 tons of all tame hay, compared to 5,211,000 tons last year.

Recent rains will help fall cuttings of alfalfa, soybeans, cowpeas and cane crops.

The bulletin shows that farm labor is 41 per cent in excess of the demand.

GENERAL SHAKUP ORDERED IN FASCIST MILITIA RANKS

Organization First Step in Program to Make Black-Shirt Highly Efficient

ROME, Italy, Sept. 11.—The black shirts or Fascist militiamen, of whom number of 353,465, are undergoing radical changes in their organization by order of the party's grand council.

The reorganization is the first step in a 10-year program designed to raise the black shirts to a peak of emergency and fighting efficiency. Officers who take up with black shirts will lose about one-third of their officers. These will be transferred to a Fascist officers' reserve, or will definitely lose their official status.

Officers who took part in the march on Rome and the events following—that is, from Oct. 28 to Nov. 1, 1922—and for one reason or another are being dismissed from active black-shirt connection have the right to enter the service.

At the same time, a number of ranks created during the Fascist revolution are abolished. The Government has ordered the creation of black-shirt officers' training schools.

Detachments From Cruiser

From Streets.

HUNDREDS FOUND SICK AND INJURED

Hurricane Victims Removed From Churches and Other
Refuges to Temporary Hospital.

By the Associated Press.

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 11.—British naval detachments are working like any other laborers in putting this ancient capital back on its feet. At the request of President Trujillo, sailors from the cruiser Danae landed yesterday to supervise cleaning of debris and refuse from the streets thus released besieged Dominican soldiers who have had almost no relief since the hurricane, Wednesday of last week.

The Britons came in their white clothes and regulation helmets, but for only a little time did they stand as guards and supervisors. Their officers almost immediately put them to work aiding the general reconstruction labor, and today it was evident they were making quite a dent in the task at hand.

Their presence was somewhat of a novelty, although in times past British naval detachments have landed to guard the legation in time of revolution.

U. S. Marines Also Wanted.

President Trujillo has asked for detachments of United States Marines to aid in the reconstruction, but it was doubtful they would be sent.

The British cruiser turned over all of its medical supplies above those actually needed for an emergency to the medical committee and all surplus food on board was given to the President and the American Relief Committee.

The technical personnel of the British ship today surveyed transportation needs with particular regard to destroyed bridges and communications service.

From this city's historic cathedral, which according to tradition shelters the bones of the discoverer of America and where a monument to his honor is the chief shrine and decoration, 100 persons injured in the hurricane were sent yesterday to Roosevelt Emergency Hospital.

Many Sick and Injured.

The cathedral's sick and sick outside the established hospital bases so far have not been counted, but Dr. Silva reported that he had inspected 11 refuges, mostly churches, in which were 1738 sick and injured. Of these 266 were hurt in the storm, their injuries calling for immediate attention.

In Santa Barbara Church Dr. Silva found one aged woman who complained of a pain in her hip. She had a complete fracture. No doctor had seen her since the storm.

At Altagracia Church there were 182 sick children and 178 adults, many with injuries. In another refuge were 154, wholly without medical attention or sanitary service since the hurricane.

Silva's survey of these refuges promised to be an important step toward clearing up conditions among the stricken people. Almost 10,000 persons have been given anti-typis, including 1000 to the stricken hunger continues to be an all important task. What starvation drove one Dominican to do was related by a food service worker. He gave a tin of corned beef without a key to the applicant. The man said he didn't need a key. He opened the can with his teeth and devoured its contents.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 11.—Two convicts who attempted to escape from the old Michigan State Prison here early this morning were recaptured by guards after a chase through darkened cell blocks.

The two convicts removed bars from their cell block with an improvised saw. The shadow against a wall betrayed their presence to a guard. The prisoners attacked him with an improved blackjack. In the fighting the guard was locked in a cell block by the prisoners who turned off the lights. The convicts finally were cornered in the third gallery of cells.

JUST THINK of that! Most of our common ailments traceable to one relatively small section of the human body!

It's easy to understand. Here is where food is assimilated. In all food is a certain amount of waste matter that cannot be digested. Unless this waste is promptly eliminated, it remains there to putrefy and contaminate the system.

But medical science has found the answer... in fresh yeast.

Yeast stimulates intestinal muscles to normal action. In this way it helps the body rid itself regularly of poison-breeding wastes.

In addition, yeast is rich in vitamins B, C, G and the "sunshines" vitamin D—elements often lacking in our nourishment. As a food, it helps to balance our daily diet.

NAVIGATION FIRST IN GOVERNMENT'S MISSISSIPPI PLAN

Channel Always to Be Kept Clear Under Principle
Formed on Secretary Hurley's Cruise.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Sept. 11.—Not even such extraordinarily low water as now throttling Mississippi River navigation will be able to tip the Federal barge lines under a new principle formulated on Secretary of War Hurley's inspection cruise. Major-General T. Q. Ashburn, executive head of Inland Waterways Corporation, declared here yesterday. Secretary Hurley, accompanied by Gen. Ashburn and army engineers in charge of Mississippi River improvement, departed for Cairo, where they were to meet District Engineer Wiley of Memphis and examine the Missouri floodway by airplane, cruising into Cape Girardeau from St. Louis Thursday on the steamer Mississippi.

They had passed through a half dozen of the worst stretches of channel on the lower Mississippi.

The party also had taken time at Grand Tower off to visit a showboat, and in consequence the steamer did not arrive until late Tuesday night and tied up here instead of Thebes, Ill., as originally intended.

A woman who years ago was Secretary Hurley's stenographer, a sleepy telegraph operator and a Post-Dispatch reporter constituted the sole reception committee. Secretary Hurley toured the Mississippi town with the correspondent, and announced that the inland waterways engineers had agreed upon a plan which they expected to settle future channel difficulties.

Navigational Comes First.

Gen. Ashburn explained that he and Major-General Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, had arrived at the fairly revolutionary principle that in all the improvement work of the engineers the immediate demands of navigation should have first consideration. In this plan, equipment and personnel would be so organized that emergency steps could be taken in advance to keep clear any point threatened by low water, such facilities now devoted to major projects of long-time improvement for future navigation and the innovation is that they can be temporarily withdrawn from such work in emergencies like that of this to forestall blocking of the channel, for benefit of speedy action.

These situations are to be handled whenever possible by the operating officials of the inland waterways corporation and the engineers on the immediate job concerned. Where they are unable to decide upon the action required, each is to report to his respective superior Gen. Brown or Gen. Ashburn, who expect in the complete accord developed by the joint inspection to have no such difficulty.

Secretary Hurley has seen a first hand how we handle Mississ. and Valley commerce, the present rail freight rates and what channel handicaps we encounter, remarked Gen. Ashburn. "He has seen goods in passage on our boats, observed the nature of our equipment, the methods we employ seen a stranded tow and cruise through a dike of the channel project which had to be breached this season because the capricious main channel went not past its point, as intended, but direct through it.

Navigation Worth While.

"In fact, alone and in the co-ordination of effort developed between War Department branches charged respectively with improvement and use of the Mississippi, the Inspection would be extremely worthless while and under the new plan reached with the corps of engineers I doubt if even such extraordinary conditions as we face this season would stop Federal work from going through."

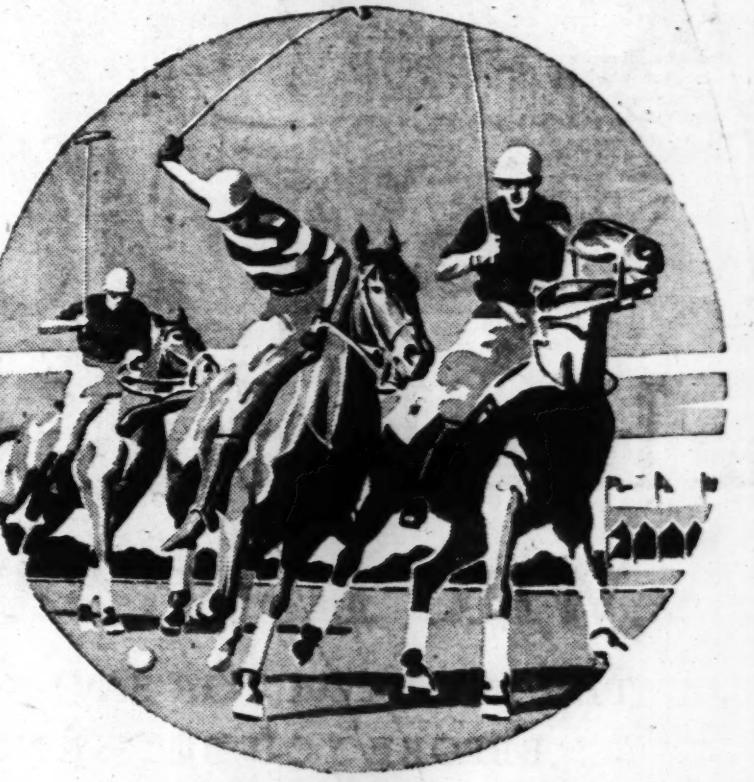

"Although we have been over the river nearly a dozen times, this my first trip in many years, and the most striking thing about it is the remarkable improvement which the major projects of the army engineers have produced in that time. There is no doubt that these long-time improvements are of immense value to the Mississippi Valley as the nation, and with the new emergency provisions, will give us clear right of way through the navigation channel. That is all we need to put boats back on the river to stay and to thrive."

The shippers getting the kind of service they want, will do the rest. This year we have maintained about 80 per cent operation despite low water under the same conditions without the channel improvement accomplished in the last four years we couldn't have gone through in a flat-bottom skiff."

Secretary Hurley today began surveying the $225,000 project for flood control of the Mississippi from Cape Girardeau to the point involved. Following the disastrous flood of 1927, and still held up some of its major phases by real estate transactions with landowners, Brigadier-General T. H. Jones of Vickburg, president of the Mississippi River Commission, in immediate charge of carrying out the project, is escorting the inspection party.

Navigation Comes First.

Gen. Ashburn explained that he, as the Missouri General, Lt. Col. Frank C. Brown, had arrived at the fairly revolutionary principle that in all the improvement work the engineers the immediate demands of navigation should have first consideration. He explained that an objection was originally made to provide any compensation for land owners in those floodways since there was contrast to the Missouri floodway project existing protection was not to be reduced. One alternative, he said, was that Congress adopt legislation providing compensation and appropriate money to pay it with.

The other was the possibility that the injunction might be overturned by a higher court and that Congress, as in the last session, continued to let the matter rest for sufficient period to demonstrate that Congress intend to do nothing about it. In which cases the work might proceed under the existing plan, for benefit of speed.

The situations are to be handled whenever possible by the operating officials of the inland waterways corporation and the engineers on the immediate job concerned. Where they are unable to decide upon the action required, each is to report to his respective superior, Gen. Brown or Gen. Ashburn, who would be the joint inspection to see if such a decision could be reached.

An "extreme flood in this situation, it became evident in Gen. Jackson's discussion with the correspondent, will impressively and perhaps tragically demonstrate the reiterated statement of army engineers. The only innovation of the "flood plan" is to limit the floodways to comparatively unpopulated territories and protect lands of greater population and higher value. All work on levee levees which will so limit the great floodways in the Boeuf and Atchafalay basins to about half the territory covered in previous great floods, has been suspended for a year pending reconsideration by executive order of President Hoover.

The President significantly stipulated that land owners and their representatives at Washington who had strenuously urged him to this action take all responsibility for its execution. Meantime, Congress has had to take any action whatever, and Federal injunction has been issued to limit the work on the Boeuf basin. It is now before the Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

"It costs you $25 from one owner to join Association—Names Leader."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The agitation against gangs and extortionists drew quick fire today in the arrest of Louis Baer after he had organized a beauty shop owner.

"National beauties," Baer confessed, naming "Tubby" Walsh, known as an extortionist, as his superior.

Jones Demar, the beauty shop owner, said Baer approached him yesterday to join the "National Beauty Parlor Association."

"It'll cost you $25 to join," he quoted Baer as saying, "and there will be monthly dues. We'll let you know how much it will be." "You'd better make up your mind in a hurry. I'll be back in the morning for the $25." We've got you, Tubby Walsh in charge, and he'll protect you if you're 'right.' If you are not 'right,' you'll get what some of the other shop owners have been getting—I guess you know what that is."

Demar took it that Baer referred to the three shop bombing of the past week.

The grand jury ordered by Chief Justice McGaughy to investigate the job of extortion in Chicago, will hear its first witnesses tomorrow. One witness will be Col. Robert L. Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce and head of the secret "Committee of Six" which has been investigating Chicago crime.

Business, civic and Governmental agencies plan to aid the investigation when it was disclosed yesterday that city engineers had been slugged and beaten within the last three days.

The attacks lead by investigators to internal strife in the union to which the engineers belong, apparently were made by the same two men. George F. Bartels, a bridge engineer, was badly beaten by a hurry. It was Bartels who guided the investigation of other engineers had been made.

Gangs After Union Control.

Chief Justice McGaughy said he had been informed that gangland chiefs are lined up solidly in their efforts to get control of unions with large financial resources. The judge said he learned that George (Bugs) Moran, north side gang leader and George (Red) Barker, ex-convict head of a branch of the Coal Teamsters' Union had joined forces to gain control of a union.

McGaughy was given the name of his informant, declaring the man had signed a contract with him, but said this information had agitated his order that the grand jury investigate labor extortionists.

Bartels, a member of the Technical Engineers, Architects and Draftsmen's Union, said he had paid no dues in the union for a year. He said the organization has been in discord over an increase in dues. Other engineers beaten were employed in the city: meter division and the city water pipe extension bureau.

Sixth Attack Reported.

A sixth attack attributed to the strike in the Engineers' Union was reported by Edward Ceslik, a draftsman employed by the Board of Education. Ceslik said he was solicited for union dues Tuesday and refused to pay them because they had been increased despite a majority vote against an increase.

A short time later three men entered the office, beat him until he collapsed, then departed after kicking him several times.

Ceslik said that he was a witness to the grand jury investigation which opened yesterday. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, will be another.

Two Negroes were arrested about a week ago in connection with the robbery and had been beaten by the same three men.

Government's grain crop estimates, based on Sept. 1 condition, were increased with general gains.

ACTIVITY LESSONS, BUT BOND PRICES ARE FIRM

St. Paul Adjustment's Move Up
More Than Point Despite Reduced Payment.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Activity in listed bonds diminished today, for the market met the counter attraction of large new offerings, but listed issues in general held firm. A feature of the afternoon dealings was a rally in St. Paul Adjustment, which moved up more than a point on a large volume despite the fact that the Oct. 1 interest payment was reduced to 1 1/4 per cent from 2 1/4. The bonds had been rather heavily liquidated during the summer, and quickly drew a following on publication of the news, for a larger reduction in the coupon had been anticipated in some quarters.

Changes in the prime domestic issues were in the smaller fractions and there was some irregularity in the market. Wider variations appeared in the longer dated issues, such as New York Doc. 5s, which rallied nearly 2 points. The utilities were well supported.

Argentines continued to recover their recent losses. Foreign bonds were mostly quiet. United States Government tended higher on light sales.

Convertible and stock warrant issues developed considerable irregularity. G. and J. Shell 5s were firm, while American I. G. Chemical 5 1/2s equaled their year's high. Reading Coal and Iron 6s eased.

BETHLEHEM STEEL DEFENDS BONUS AT MERGER HEARING

Witness Says Effect on Youngstown Stock Would Be 20 Cents, Not $2.

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 11.—Counsel for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation gave figures yesterday in an effort to disprove that the effect of the Bethlehem executive bonus plan would be detrimental to Youngstown Sheet & Tube stockholders in the merger of these companies.

The proportion of administration and selling cost, bonus included, and expenses to gross sales and earnings was shown in the case of Bethlehem to have been 3.24 per cent on an annual average since 1924 and in the case of Youngstown 4.06 per cent. The percentages for 1929 were: Bethlehem, 3.72, and Youngstown, 3.65.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Waterhouse & Co attacked the effect on the stock issuable to Youngstown holders, instead of being $2 a share as claimed by the plaintiffs who seek to enjoin the merger, actually would be 20 cents a share. This was based on the assumption that the bonus system, through which Bethlehem executives were paid more than $3,000,000 last year, would be continued without change.

The executive statement was made after preferred dividends at $25,242,803 and estimated the bonuses would at most be increased 6.54 per cent. This percentage was figured after income tax at $1,453,925 or the equivalent of 4,800,000 shares of Bethlehem to be outstanding at 20 cents a share. The total on 1,600,000 shares issuable to Youngstown stockholders was figured at $48,642.

FINANCIAL NOTES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—D. S. Diamond, president of the Federal Screw Works of Detroit, said that "so far as we can judge from the orders and supplies received by our company, it is now apparent that business has reached its extreme low during the month of July and that it is now headed upward." He said the company had a fair increase in specifications in August and a further increase so far in September.

Conservation of resources, pending a more favorable trend in general business conditions is indicated by dividend actions of various boards of directors in August. Figures supplied by the Standard Statistics Co. show 256 decreases during the month, in comparison with none in August last year, and 55 dividends omitted as compared with 11 in the same period a year ago.

Production of standard cotton cloths for the five weeks ended Aug. 20 increased 5 per cent over July production, but showed a decrease of 29 per cent from August last year, the association of Cotton Textile Merchants report.

Consolidated Retail Stores reported August sales of $1,717,964, a decrease of 10 per cent from $1,910,924 for August last year. Sales for the eight months ended Aug. 20 totaled $12,938,963, an increase of 4.6 per cent over $12,366,235 for the like period last year. The company has 30 units in operation, compared with 29 last year.

CHAPTER XIX.

IT WAS the first time that their talk together had turned such a corner. They had been personal enough—in an impersonal way. They were friends, good friends, close friends, even affectionate, if undemonstrative, friends. They laughed and talked and argued and disagreed. There had been no hint of flirtation, of all flirtation stands for, no intrusion of sex.

"Do they?" asked Stephen again.

His eyes were changed, the expression of his face altered. He looked younger and at the same time older than she had ever seen him. Light-hearted. Mischievous. And yet, somewhere, a curious gravity.

Gertrude and her blond young man racketed in and demanded: "What's the matter with you two? Can't you set a table? What's the idea of passing the buck to us? Haven't we enough trouble? The gas nearly blew up. It's a mercy we aren't stiff and cold by now. Eve, that new butcher is rotten!"

So the moment had passed. But now, in all likelihood, spending his money on Eve.

After he had left Stella, carelessly, hastily, brushing a kiss on her smooth cheek, shrugging away from the clinging of her bare arms, deaf to her murmur "you won't stay? . . . a little longer? . . ." he felt himself torn by two loyalties. Should he tell Charlotte that her ex-husband was interested in another woman? But that would be to betray Eve—and he liked Eve.

If he told Charlotte, she would ask where he had known Eve. And that might lead to other knowledge.

Well, since meeting Charlotte, he had been faithful to her fashion.

He tried to keep Stella and Charlotte apart from each other in his mind. It was difficult. But their proximity was indecent. And it came as an actual physical shock to him one night at Stella's, turning the dials of the radio idly enough, to hear Charlotte's voice, clear and lovely, singing one of the foolish songs he liked best—singing, perhaps, wondering if he were listening.

He cut her off, fumbled, turned to the mad pulsation of jazz.

"Why didn't you keep the singer?" Stella asked fretfully. She had a rather nice voice—for the radio.

"I'm sorry." He pretended to hunt for Charlotte again, to snatch her back, out of the air. Said, finally, giving it up, as he ran quickly past the station.

"It must have been the end of her program."

It had been a horrible moment. Charlotte's voice, the song she had sung to him alone, a day or so before, in that luxury-stuffed room he knew so well . . . the room he was hating, even as he sat in it and listened, to the ceaseless, petulant murmur of the woman who owned it, even as he suffered the tedious familiarity of her hands upon his own, her lips . . .

The alteration in even the office atmosphere was quite apparent to both. Stephen, however, an alteration brought about in that almost inevitable and intensely masculine question of his—a question she had left unanswered: a question flirtations in its import, but springing from deeper sources, from roots of irritation, of awaking curiosity, of even fear.

Their friendship had brought about a warmer, more closely knit bond to their mutual routine. But now, subtly, imperceptibly, it lapsed back to the strict, impersonal manner of their earlier business relations. It was as though each was afraid to loosen the reins even by the smallest relaxation of their grip. The sudden thread which had been spun between them was as fragile as a cobweb, but cobweb blind and clinging. Each had been feeling uneasy, a little reluctant, a little sorry, and each was now preoccupied with the thought of the other.

"What the lucky guy?" he asked, interested.

"I don't know him. She won't bring him here. I've asked her, often enough. He's in the office where she works. His name is Dana, I think," answered Stella, abstracted.

Stoddard felt his heart quicken. Dana? Charlotte's good-riddance husband? But that was absurd! "What does he hang out—I mean, what does he do? I don't know anything about him."

"It's an importuning business of some kind. I hope this affair isn't serious." Mrs. Bedford complained, languidly. "I don't suppose the man has a cent. He's divorced, into the bargain. I made her tell me that much."

Proof enough. Stoddard almost laughed aloud. He had seen Charlotte, oddly, discreetly, while she was waiting for her final divorce. Now that it had been granted, he was seeing her every day. He was finding that association had not lessened his attraction for her. It had been idle enough at first, but now it was growing. The blond, childlike quality of prettiness she possessed appealed to him. He admired her. She was singing, regularly, on the radio now, and she cut the miserable pitifulness the man she divorced allowed her, thought Stoddard, with resentment. The man who was now her husband, he said, just now, was too busy.

"Eve?" he asked, as astonished as if she had told him that some marble maiden in the art museum had suddenly been informed with life. Yet, why not? Eve? Surely she must have something of her mother in her, something of her mother's generous, almost terrifying ardor?

"What the lucky guy?" he asked, interested.

"I don't know him. She won't bring him here. I've asked her, often enough. He's in the office where she works. His name is Dana, I think," answered Stella, abstracted.

Peach Mousse. Mix together one cup crushed ripe peaches, three-quarter cup powdered sugar and one teaspoon lemon juice. Soften one teaspoon gelatine in one tablespoon cold water and dissolve over hot water, then stir into the fruit. Now add one pint cream whipped solid and add to the fruit. Three tablespoons powdered sugar, stir in slowly but well. Turn into a tight-top covered mold and bury in ice and salt for four hours. For those with electric refrigeration this may be poured into the large unit pan and kept in the unit for three or four hours.

Now Is the Time. Now is the time to get that furnace man on the job and see that everything is in good working order for next winter. If you let it go until the last minute you will have trouble getting the man for the job and perhaps a part will be needed that would require time to get. Play safe and get that furnace in order now.

Robbers Don't Scare
Pretty Chicago Girl

I TAKES more than a footpad with a pistol to excite pretty Helen Howell, 18-year-old debut daughter of a wealthy Chicago Board of Trade operator.

When three robbers held up Helen and her escort, she helped one of them remove rings valued at $1400.

"I saw he wasn't going to be able to take them off without scratching my fingers, so I helped him," she remarked.

Miss Howell, who makes her debut this year, excited Chicago three years ago when she dashed through heavy Sheridan road traffic on a runaway horse. She finally was thrown but not injured.

Last year she was presented at the English court, and met the Prince of Wales.

Helen is the daughter of Thomas Montgomery Howell.

Why We Call Them
Newspapers...

WHEN NEWSPAPERS WERE FIRST PUBLISHED IT BECAME CUSTOMARY TO CARRY ON THEIR MASTHEAD THE COMPASS INSIGNIA. TO DENOTE THAT INFORMATION CAME FROM THE FOUR QUARTERS OF THE EARTH... LATER THE INITIALS WERE RUN IN A STRAIGHT LINE, N-E-W-S, AND FINALLY WERE RUN TOGETHER, NEWS, THUS CREATING THE NAME "NEWSPAPERS".

PEACHES...

THE PEACH WAS ORIGINALLY POISONED ALMOND... ITS STONY PART WAS USED TO POISON ARROW TIPS, AND IT WAS BROUGHT INTO PERSIA FOR THIS PURPOSE... THROUGH PLANTING AND CULTIVATING, IT LOST ITS POISONOUS PROPERTIES AND DEVELOPED INTO THE DELICIOUS FRUIT WE NOW ENJOY...

How did Paris get its name? Who inaugurated the first lottery?—Answers, tomorrow.

Peach Mousse.

Mix together one cup crushed ripe peaches, three-quarter cup powdered sugar and one teaspoon lemon juice. Soften one teaspoon gelatine in one tablespoon cold water and dissolve over hot water, then stir into the fruit. Now add one pint cream whipped solid and fold in with three tablespoons powdered sugar. Stir in slowly but well. Turn into a tightly covered mold and burn in ice and salt for four hours. For those with electric refrigeration this may be poured into the large unit pan and kept in the unit for three or four hours.

Now Is the Time.

Now is the time to get that future man on the job and see that everything is in good working order for next winter. If you let it go until the last minute you may have trouble getting the man for the job and perhaps a part will be needed that would require time to get. Play safe and get that furnace in order now.

Why We Call Them
Newspapers...

WHEN NEWSPAPERS WERE FIRST PUBLISHED IT BECAME CUSTOMARY TO CARRY ON THEIR MASTHEAD THE COMPASS INSIGNIA W-+ TO DENOTE THAT INFORMATION CAME FROM THE FOUR QUARTERS OF THE EARTH... LATER THE INITIALS WERE RUN IN A STRAIGHT LINE, N-E-W-S, AND FINALLY WERE RUN TOGETHER, NEWS, THIS CREATING THE NAME 'NEWSPAPERS.'

PEACHES...

THE PEACH WAS ORIGINALLY A POISONED ALMOND... ITS FLESHY PART WAS USED TO POISON ARROWS, AND IT WAS BROUGHT INTO PERSIA FOR THIS PURPOSE... THROUGH TRANSPLANTING AND CULTIVATING IT LOST ITS POISONOUS PROPERTIES AND DEVELOPED INTO THE DELICIOUS FRUIT WE NOW ENJOY...

BEAR DRIVE DEPRESSES STOCK LIST AT THE CLOSE

Gains Made in Middle of Day Are Lost When Week-End Adjustment Brings Out Retirement of Long Accounts.

FAVORITES DECLINE UP TO 4 POINTS

Weekly Mercantile Reviews Continue to Show Moderate Business Improvement — Grain Markets Again Are Weak.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—If bulls were planning to give the bear crowd the week-end squeeze, which had become a fixture of the current campaign, they received a shock late in today's stock market, as bulls turned the tables.

The market has displayed considerable weariness of bull strength this week, and efforts to give it a reprieve toward the close of the week, the possible salvoes effect upon speculative confidence, failed decisively. The technical position had probably been considerably weakened by the steady short covering of the past few weeks, and it is possible the bull leaders finally decided to let the market drop to attract a larger short interest. Whether any such maneuver was planned may be learned from the success bulls have driving shorts to cover in tomorrow's session.

New Aids the Bears.
Bulls were aided by a particularly disappointing sales report by Sears, Roebuck, for the ninth period of its 13-month calendar, which ended Sept. 10. Sales for period showed a decline of 10 per cent from the like period last year, making the poorest comparison since the seventh period, when the drop was 14. A seasonal gain of 10 per cent over the preceding period, however, was reported.

The week-end mercantile reviews were again moderately cheerful, and reported improvement in both hard and retail trade for the third successive week. Dun's said, after two weeks of September, it is possible to take a more hopeful view of the outlook. Bradstreet's pointed out that some sections were making favorable comparisons with the same time a year ago, although the market was naturally lower. After some unsettlement during the morning, bulls succeeded in turning the market upward under the leadership of the utilities. Several merchandising, industrial and miscellaneous issues were also sent moderately higher. Early gains were lost, however, and closing quotations disclosed many losses of 2 to 3 points in important issues. Total sales of 1,900,000 shares showed some quickening from yesterday.

Favorites Drift Lower.
Issues losing 2 to 4 points included American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, Corning, Auburn, Foster Wheeler, Columbian Carbon, and Northern Pacific. Case dropped 2 1/2 net. Ingersoll-Rand lost 6 in a small turnover. Issues closing off a point more included Radio, Radio City, General Electric, Sears-Roebuck, Woolworth, North American, Reduction, Union Carbide, National Biscuit and Stone & Webster. U. S. Steel was off 1/2 at the close.

The grain markets were mostly lower. Corn tumbled 1 1/2 to 2 1/2, in further reaction of the government crop reports, and Nebraska crop advices. Wheat lost about a cent, in sympathy with Liverpool. Cotton futures closed about $1 to $1 1/2 lower.

Foreign exchanges were also lower. Sterling cables dropped 1/2 cent to $4.88, and the German mark to 23.81 cents, cables, reached a new low for the year.

Closing stock prices will be found on pages 21C, 22C and 23C.
